RE: ECSA OPERATIONS AS COVID - 19 CASES INCREASE

Dear Valued Stakeholder,

The Engineering Council of South Africa (ECSA) has resolved to implement rotational remote working for its staff members in order to prioritise the health and safety of its employees.

This decision comes as South Africa and Gauteng in particular are experiencing an increase in the number of COVID-19 cases as well as the plea from President Cyril Ramaphosa for business who are able to work from home to do so.

In carrying out our mandate of regulating the engineering profession during these tumultuous times, it is our resolve that our services will not be interrupted during this period.

While the council strives to serve its members in the most effective and efficient way, stakeholders are requested as far as possible to make use of emails to communicate with the relevant ECSA staff members or contact 011 603 9500 for further assistance.

It is of paramount importance to us that you continue to receive support. We are confident that with the measures we are putting in place, there will be no disruption of our services to you.

Kind Regards,

Mr Cox Mokgoro

Acting Chief Executive Officer
